

Original Wisconsin Ducks Fact Sheet

- What is a Duck: An original World War II “Duck” is an amphibious vehicle, meaning it can travel on land and water. It has six driving wheels, a steel hull, and the capacity to carry 25 people while afloat and 5,000-pounds of general cargo. (Original WI Ducks carry a maximum of 21 passengers plus the driver.) The Duck's land motor is in the front. The vehicle operates in water by means of a pusher/propeller located at the rear.
- Vital Statistics: Weight = 7½ tons Length = 31 feet Width = 8 feet Height = 10½ feet
Engine = Engines were six-cylinder GMC model 270 truck engines.
The OWD operational fleet has been converted to six-cylinder Cummins diesel engines.
Transmission = Four- and six-wheel drive; 10 speeds forward / two reverse
Top Speeds = 50 mph on land; 11 knots on water
- Official Name: DUKW is the official military code used to describe the unique vehicles.
“D” stands for 1942, the year of production
“U” indicates it is an amphibious utility vehicle
“K” represents front-wheel drive
“W” signifies twin, rear-driving axles
- Everyday Name: American soldiers simply called them “Ducks,” a fitting nickname since the military code DUKW looked similar and the vehicles could operate on land and water.
- Our Fleet: With 92 Ducks, Original Wisconsin Ducks is the largest fleet of authentic WWII amphibious tour ducks in the nation. There are an estimated 300 operational Ducks in the United States. However, many more of the vehicles were abandoned in Europe where OWD managers have traveled to find Ducks in good condition to add to the fleet.
- Other “Ducks”: In recent years, other amphibious tours have started around the country, but most of them are not using authentic WWII DUKW vehicles. Many are newly manufactured machines with similar amphibious features called Truck Ducks. While those operations call themselves “Ducks” they are not authentic DUKW vehicles and cannot be compared to our fleet.
